PA NEW OBSERVES

"Don't be a Public Highway Enemy Number One," the current Detroit Bulletin of the State Highway Department warns, "Dim your lights—Don't cut in—Share the road." Incidentally there are no new detours listed on the bulletin for the period ending February 19.

Quite a lot of new sink holes developed in dirt streets yesterday, when summer weather returned, pulling the frost out of the ground and then drenching it with rain.

PA News noticed yesterday that quite a lot of perennials such as flags, poppies, bleeding heart, and other early bloomers are away up out of the ground. Onions which were left in the ground are growing. If that's a sign of an early spring, it's already here.

Many downtown business houses were today displaying flags in front of their establishments in honor of National Boy Scout Anniversary Week.

Public square benches had the appearance of the good old summer time on Monday afternoon. The (Continued On Page Two)

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 9.—A petition of the city of New Castle for rehearing upon and reconsideration of a public service commission order approving discontinuance of watchmen at South Mill street and Moravia street crossings over the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad in New Castle was granted today.

The city contended that the commission's order of Dec. 15, 1936, if continued, will delay train movements at the crossings and will not adequately provide for the safety of the public using the crossing. No date has been set for the rehearing.

BODY OF SLAIN GIRL IS BURIED

(International News Service)
BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 9.—Behind a cloak of secrecy, police today were believed to be nearing a solution of the brutal murder of pretty Mary Ellen Babcock.

Officials refused to confirm or deny reports they had definite information of the killer's identity, but it was unofficially admitted definite progress has been made.

The body of the 18-year-old girl whose battle with an attacker ended in her death, was en route today to Centerville, Pa., for burial.

A thousand or more curiosity seekers gathered near her home here while funeral services were in progress.

At police headquarters three men were reported to have been questioned, one a heavy-weight boxer who was released. The other two were held. Police would not reveal who they were.

Telephoned threats to friends of the slain girl also were under official scrutiny.

Identities of the friends were kept secret, but police said Mary Ellen went to their home about 11:45 o'clock Friday night, the night she was slain, in a highly nervous state, and said she had been annoyed by a man.

She left in about five minutes for home, but never reached there.

SOMERSET, Pa., Feb. 9.—Delay in selection of the remaining jurors and alternates today slowed up the pace of the "third degree" murder trial.

When Supreme Court Justice George W. Maxey adjourned court for the luncheon recess at noon, only one juror had been selected at the morning session, bringing to 11 the number thus far chosen. In addition, two alternate jurors must be named.

State Trooper Stacey Gunderman, first of the 12 defendants to be brought to trial on a charge of murder, sat silently and glumly at the counsel table, paying only perfunctory attention to the proceedings which may mean life, death or jail for him.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Stranded here for more funds, a change of clothes and possibly the return of his new automobile, Earl R. Weaver, 38, a traveling salesman from Lancaster, Pa., was puzzled today in his realization that it could happen here.

He told police two youths jumped into his automobile when he stopped at a traffic light, shoved a pistol against his side and commanded him to drive on. Later one of the pair insisted that he take the wheel and Weaver changed seats, still under pistol point.

After driving through the city and past police cars, Weaver said his abductors halted in an outlying section, took his wallet containing $65, a bank containing $15 in dimes, his suitcases, and forced him to get out. He was enroute to Richmond, Va., for the American Oil Co.

State May Take Over Maintenance Of More Highways

Plan To Take Over 46,500 Miles Of Roads In Second Class Townships

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 9.—Democratic chieftains today planned to have the commonwealth take over the maintenance of some 46,000 miles of roads in second class townships. This was decided at a Democratic caucus last night during which Secretary of Highways Warren Van Dyke urged that present discrepancies be eliminated.

Although all second class townships received, under the Furman Act of 1935, $97 per mile from the state, he said, 496 such units spent an average of $237.65 per mile and 1,042 spend an average of $41 per mile.

President's Plan To Name Court Runs Into Snags

Bitter Battle On Issue Of Increasing Court Certain In Senate

LIBERAL LEADERS OPPOSE PROPOSAL

No Illusions Held About Real Purpose Of Move By President

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—President Roosevelt's proposal to increase the supreme court to 15 members ran into snags today in house and senate, with its ultimate approval in some doubt.

Administration leaders declared they would secure its enactment in the house but conceded they faced a terrific battle in the senate. A partial poll of the senate by the International News Service disclosed 33 senators now favoring it, 37 opposed and the remaining 26 in doubt, on the fence, noncommittal or out of the city. The poll showed neither side was certain of victory at this early stage.

Cool To Program

In the house, Rep. Summers (D) of Texas, chairman of the house judiciary committee, was cool to the program. Summers, however, has a bill providing for retirement of supreme court justices at full pay at the age of 70 years. Rumors prevailed three justices were willing to retire, if given this opportunity. There was some support for Summers' plan but apparently not enough to overthrow the presidential program.

There was tremendous activity by administration leaders in behalf of the president's program, this included an unbroken flow of interviews with legislators by Interior Under-Secretary Charles West, the president's "contact man," with congress, and a brief visit to the Capitol by the new presidential secretary, young James Roosevelt, the president's son.

Long Fight Certain

A long fight appeared in prospect. On the one side stood the president's great personal prestige, backed by his tremendous landslide victory last November, which his followers interpret as a mandate from the people to enact the judicial reforms he now asks. Behind that dangled 50 judicial plums, including six new supreme court posts, some circuit court of appeal judgeships and the remainder district robes for life. The word already has been circulated that legislators who oppose the reforms will receive no recognition when the newly-created judgeships are filled.

This would not affect legislators personally, since the constitution prohibits any member of congress from accepting appointment to a post created during his elected term. Present members cannot resign now and later accept judicial appointments, if the posts are created at any time during the term for which they were elected, but it had tre- (Continued On Page Two)

Von Ribbentrop Again Shocks English Folks

Once More German Ambassador Greets King George With Nazi Salute

(International News Service)
LONDON, Feb. 9.—Joachim von Ribbentrop's recent shock to the diplomatic corps was repeated a dozen-fold today when the German ambassador and 11 other members of the German embassy staff saluted King George with the Nazi stiff-arm at the first levee of his reign.

Eight hundred statesmen, diplomats, and officers gazed at the Germans again replaced the customary double bow with the Hitler salute. Clicking his heels and acrobatically accompanying the gesture with a "Heil Hitler!" von Ribbentrop pointedly ignored the uproar he caused last week after the royal reception to the diplomatic corps.

King George drove in state from Buckingham Palace to St. James' for the reception in the throne room to a glittering array of men in uniforms and formal clothes, would be brought there "because we have the strongest jail in this part of the country." He said that so far as he knew there were no "G" men in Grafton.

Report "Dead Ringer" For Mattson Kidnaper Taken

(International News Service)
PEMBINA, N. D., Feb. 9.—A "dead ringer" for the man who kidnapped and murdered 10-year-old Charles Mattson was taken to Grafton, N. D., today, reportedly for grilling by federal bureau of investigation agents.

The secrecy with which authorities shrouded their movements resulted in widespread rumors a "break" in the Mattson case is imminent.

Immigration authorities, who arrested the man at Noyes, Minn., last Thursday, revealed the suspect, who gave his name as Stanislaus Poracki, will be taken to Grafton today "if we can get through," but refused to state what disposal would be made of him after arrival there.

The chief of police at Grafton said he had been advised Poracki

Mississippi's Crest Reaches Memphis, Tenn.

Stage Of 48.56 At Memphis Today As Mississippi Flood Rolls South

TERRIFIC WIND CAUSES DAMAGE

(International News Service)
MEMPHIS, Feb. 9.—The Mississippi's flood crest rolled past Memphis today with the river standing at a flood stage of 48.56 feet.

Temperatures dropped today, and the high winds that whipped great waves against levees up and down the river yesterday, had generally receded today.

Hastily erected bulkheads at low points along the levee system kept the waves from slopping over the dikes.

A 45-mile wind whipped through Evansville, Ind., unroofing houses, uprooting trees and smashing windows, adding to the misery of the flood-stricken city.

Heavy Wind Blowing "Paducah" meteorologist W. F. Brist reported today, "was whipped by angry waves which endangered relief boats, drove relief workers to cover, and disrupted electrical service. The Ohio river there is at 58.55 feet, a fall of slightly more than two feet from the crest, but rehabilitation work is going forward."

The flood crest may be several days in passing Memphis, Brist said. Engineers reported "everything well in hand" along the levee system, but were keeping constant vigil against sand boils, seepage, and cave-ins.

The river was reported receding at Hickman, Ky., the Ohio was reported falling at Cairo where the greatest danger now is from sand boils.

Erie Infant Is Drowning Victim

(International News Service)
ERIE, Pa., Feb. 9.—Unseasonable warm weather which weakened the ice in a neighbor's shallow fish pond was blamed today for the drowning of Donald Rappers, two and a half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Rappers.

The child was drowned in 18 inches of water when he broke through the ice late yesterday afternoon. The entire neighborhood conducted a search for him when finally Wallace M. Kreider, owner of the pond, noticed an unusually large hole in the ice and the boy's hand protruding. Ambulance surgeons were unable to resuscitate him. They estimated he had lain in the water for at least 20 minutes.

Breakdown In Strike Parley Is Feared Near

No Settlement Basis Is Reached In Auto Strike; Parley Set For 8 P. M.

BATTLE TO FINISH APPEARS LIKELY

"State Of Emergency" Declared At Flint—Gov. Murphy Still Optimistic

(International News Service)
Developments in the auto strike situation today:

1. Deadlocked Detroit peace parley between General Motors and union officials adjourned until 8 p. m.
2. "State of emergency declared at Flint, Mich., as sit-down strikers continue to hold three General Motors plants.
3. Company guards, wearing tin helmets, posted at two GM plants at Signaw after reports Flint strikers headed there to force a sit-down strike.
4. Gov. Frank Murphy optimistic over peace parley, but statements of both sides strongly indicate conference stymied.
5. Homer Martin, president United Auto Workers Union, plans five-state speaking tour.

Parley Near Failure

Detroit, Feb. 9.—Defiant sit-down strikers in Flint faced the loss of gubernatorial protection as the General Motors auto strike parley apparently headed for the official stamp of failure tonight.

Unless Gov. Frank Murphy finds a formula to match the optimism with which he awaits tonight's resumption of the peace parley, it was strongly indicated, a complete breakdown will climax his desperate efforts to block a "battle to a finish."

From a source close to the governor, it was learned Gov. Murphy may make a decision on the sit-down strikers after tonight's meeting between John L. Lewis, strike strategist for the United Auto Workers Union, and William S. Knudsen, GMC executive vice president.

See Little Hope

On the basis of statements from both warring forces, tonight's meeting will yield nothing more than the conference has since it began last Wednesday under personal guidance of President Roosevelt.

After 10 hours of bitter debate yesterday and last night behind locked doors, Gov. Murphy recessed the parley at 1:15 a. m. today, and said:

"I think they are closer together than at any time since the conference opened last Wednesday."

Neither Knudsen nor Lewis would substantiate Gov. Murphy's optimism.

Said Knudsen in reference to the Union's demand for sole collective bargaining rights in 20 GM plants closed by the strike:

"General Motors cannot subscribe to such coercion and deliver its workers into bondage."

Said the determined Lewis: "General Motors production has been shut down. General Motors is now recognizing the U. A. W. as the bargaining agency to start its operations again. If we are the bargain- (Continued On Page Two)

A. F. OF L. MAKES PROTEST

Auto Strike Is Cause Of Move

Action Taken To Protect A. F. Of L. Union In Auto Industry

SIDES DIRECTLY WITH NO FACTION

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The American Federation of Labor, which last fall suspended John L. Lewis and his C. I. O. unions from its ranks, today injected itself into the automobile strike deadlock, taking a position between Lewis and General Motors, and siding directly with neither faction.

Concern over the fate of a number of A. F. of L. unions within the G. M. plants brought from the federation a protest against recognition of Lewis and his striking United Automobile Workers Union as the workers' sole bargaining agency. At the same time, President William Green made it plain that the federation was by no means allying itself with the employers. He would not comment on the sit-down strike.

The occasion of federation activity was the first quarterly meeting of the A. F. of L. executive council for 1937, at which Green said the federation will crystallize and make public its position with regard to Lewis and his strike tactics.

Insisted On Election
In the past, Green conceded, in situations similar to that prevailing in the G. M. strike deadlock, the A. F. of L. has always insisted on an election among the workers to determine what faction constitutes a majority, in order that this faction shall be recognized as the collective bargaining agency for the plant. However, he would not say that he was in favor of an election in the present instance. Lewis has repeatedly rejected suggestions for an election in the G. M. plants to determine the strength of his United Automobile Workers Union.

Apparently, the A. F. of L. activity was in no wise affected by the collapse of peace negotiations between Lewis and General Motors under the aegis of Gov. Frank Murphy in Detroit. Green, along with several other federation executives, today also sent to Murphy a telegram asking that the rights of A. F. of L. union workers in the G. M. plants be "protected" in any bargaining arrangements made. Today, he said he was still awaiting a reply from Murphy.

Dear Pa News:

Judging from the great number of inquiries that come to me a lot of people are interested in animals that hibernate in winter. Woodchucks, badgers, groundmoles, skunks, frogs, and turtles, all these small creatures disappear from the woods, because they have a hard time to find food in the cold days, so take to dens underground, and to trees, to sleep the winter away. Some of the animals that sleep through the winter are the raccoon, the chipmunk, and the shrew. The raccoon is a restless sleeper, and at times he can be found prowling about in the snow. The coon will sleep for two and three weeks at a time, then awake to investigate conditions outside. Many times in February we have warm spells that arouse the winter sleepers from their warm dens. They crawl about hunting for food, then suddenly the cold comes again, which causes a hardship to the weakened animal, and many of them freeze to death. When animals go to sleep in the winter their repose is very deep, and one would think them dead, their breath comes so slowly, this slow breathing does not use up much energy, so they do not need to eat, thus their stored up fat lasts longer. Some of the animals that sleep during the winter time do not feed from the time they take to their winter beds in the fall, until nature awakens them in March or April.

the civil war, for it deprived the Loyalists of their most important southern support, gave the rebels another gateway for importation of foreign reinforcements, and shortly after the push against Almeria, will loosen Gen. De Lano's mighty host for a flank attack on Madrid. Malaga was a scene of incendiarism, plundering, and murder when the rebel vanguard arrived.

The whole central part of the port with a normal population of 200,000 was looted and then burned to the ground. The dead lay everywhere, although there was practically no resistance to the rebel's entry.

"There was a little fighting at first by some madmen who took up positions in houses," said Gen. De Lano. "They left 80 dead, while our only losses were a few wounded."

Retaliation Planned
The populace, either sincerely or through fear, greeted the rebels with tremendous enthusiasm, giving the Fascist salute and shouting "Arriba Espana!" (Up Spain).

In retaliation for the killing of an estimated 6000 during the Leftists' occupation of the city, however, the rebel commanders openly announced their intention of dealing with the utmost severity with captured Loyalist leaders. Firing squads would act immediately after sentences were passed, the rebels said.

The swift swoop on Malaga probably accounted for at least 2000 Loyalist lives in spite of the minor fighting. Rebels announced in one phase of the operations at Malaga 200 "reds" were killed, and 12 big guns and 12,000,000 cartridges were captured.

"It is perfectly simple. Perfectly clear and perfectly understandable."

Green Enters Situation
Before Lewis made the statement, William Green, head of the American Federation of Labor, entered the picture, officially for the first time, insisting that the A. F. of L. unions be recognized in any bargaining done by General Motors.

Gov. Murphy declined to comment on a telegram sent by Green, but it was reported the conference would be limited to the present groups. The committee for industrial organization, which Lewis heads, is made up of unions under suspension by the parent A. F. of L. Sit-down strikers remained in the General Motors plants in Flint today with the order for their arrests still unserved by Sheriff Thomas Wolcott. The sheriff has said he would not take any action on the writ obtained by General Motors until the governor replies to his appeal for help of the state militia mobilized there.

State Of Emergency
Flint, Feb. 9.—This strike-weary city of 60,000 was placed under a "state of emergency" by the city commission today, with Mayor Harold E. Bradshaw virtual dictator.

While strikers and non-strikers in General Motors plants here crowded the commission chambers, the commission voted by 5 to 2 to declare the emergency, and make Mayor Bradshaw head of the city over city.

Barringer had been a storm center since he mustered out 700 reserve police to "recapture Flint's streets from armed mobs" he accused of being strike sympathizers.

"My elevation is not a reflection on the city manager or police chief," Bradshaw explained. "I will simply step in as coordinator between city departments, the state and the military."

About 4,000 national guardsmen are on strike duty here. Mayor Bradshaw said he would not call out the police reserves without giving the union "ample notice."

Sources close to the mayor indicated he would not call them out while National Guardsmen were here.

Weld Doors Shut
Detroit, Feb. 8.—Sit-down strikers inside the main plant of the Nash-Kelvinator corporation here welded shut the doors today. Office help was barred from entering.

Both the main and side doors of the administration building were sealed. They are of steel construction.

JURY SELECTING IN THIRD DEGREE TRIAL SLOWS UP

giotti, special prosecutor, and John J. Duggan, Jr., chief defense counsel, subject all talesmen to a detailed examination today, much more detailed than that of the first session yesterday.

Jury No. 11 in the group who will hear the attorney general relate how he contends Frank Monaghan, 64, a Uniontown hotelkeeper, was mercilessly beaten and tortured to death to force a confession from him, was George Burke, 22, a laborer of Hooversville. He was the youngest person on the jury box at this stage.

Have Examined 66.
When court recessed at noon, a total of 66 of the 150 talesmen summoned for this session of court had been questioned and either accepted, eliminated or challenged.

Duggan suffered a slight defeat today when Judge Maxey overruled his exception to Margiotti's questioning of James Wonders, a prospective juror. Margiotti sought to force Wonders to admit part of his pay was deducted by the United Mine Workers of America for a defense fund for several of the 12 persons indicted for the "dark ages" slaying. Duggan objected and was overruled, but Wonders said he understood the deduction made from his pay check was for a "strike relief fund."

MAYOR ATTENDS TO DUTIES
Mayor Charles E. McGrath was considerably improved today and presided over police court and also attended a meeting of the Shade Tree commission at the city building.

mendous effect upon those who would like to name some friend to the judgeships.

Liberal Leaders Oppose.
On the other side stood the senate's great liberal leaders back-to-back, fighting the president's proposal to increase the supreme court.

These included the veterans, George W. Norris, Nebraska Independent; Hiram W. Johnson, the California progressive; William E. Borah, Idaho Republican; and Burton K. Wheeler, Montana Democrat.

The liberals rather agreed with the president that the supreme court was not wholly in sympathy with the present views of the people but they objected heatedly to the president's method of remedying that situation.

With one voice, they opposed congress taking any action to give the president control over the tribunal through appointment of new members. They demanded that any such major change in the form of the government be submitted to the people in some form of a constitutional amendment. They may not agree as to the nature of that amendment, but any material change they demanded, should be voted by the people—and not by congress.

No Illusions Over Issue.
Actual leadership of the fight will be taken by Senators Frederick Van Nuys (D) of Indiana, and Edward R. Burke (D) of Nebraska, members of the senate judiciary committee which will consider the plan. Van Nuys demanded the committee separate the proposal to increase the supreme court from the rest of the presidential program.

There are no illusions in the senate over the issue. The president's closest friends openly concede his real desire is to obtain a supreme court friendly to the New Deal. They concede further the president might run into defeat if he sought a constitutional amendment to increase the legislative powers of congress or to restrict the judicial powers of the supreme court. They point to failure of the states to ratify the anti-child labor amendment, pending for more than a decade.

And right there is where the liberals enter the battle. They demanded the whole question be submitted to the people—and they favored submitting it on any proposed amendment suggested by the president. And on that issue they will stage one of the greatest parliamentary contests of the present age—a contest in which the outcome is clouded with doubt.

To learn why a group supported Roosevelt, wait and see what it asks for.

SMART AFFAIR FOR BARBARA NESBIT

Charmingly arranged with the bridal motif predominating, was a shower affair in honor of Barbara Nesbit of Leasure avenue, fiancée of Dr. George R. Cunningham of Killarney, W. Va., which was given Monday evening in a prominent tearoom by Mrs. John E. Johnson, of Butler avenue, the former Virginia Wimer.

Twelve guests comprised the group which spent an informal evening at bridge, the smart prizes going to Mrs. C. Edward Smith, Jr., (Anna Mae Lloyd), and Sylvia Lee Martin.

For late supper the girls were seated about a large table centered with yellow jonquils and sweet peas, with slender white tapers at either end. Place cards were daintily suggestive of wedding bells, and other favors were small white baskets, topped with miniature brides and grooms.

After the serving of a delectable menu, the bride-to-be was surprised by a shower of beautiful gifts, conveying many good wishes for her happiness.

In addition to the array of presents of a miscellaneous nature, Miss Nesbit was still another gift from her hostess. It was a lovely corsage of Talisman roses and sweet peas, the flowers blending nicely with her dress of blue tulle and crepe which she had chosen at the wedding yesterday morning, of her brother, David W. Nesbit, Jr., to Virginia E. Specht, of Harrisville.

To climax the affair, Miss Nesbit revealed the date of her wedding to Dr. Cunningham, as Tuesday morning, March ninth, and the place will be the First Baptist church in this city.

WAAHANNIE MEMBERS AT WALLACE HOME

The Valentine theme was developed in all appointments for the Wahannee club members bi-weekly party Monday evening, when they met as the guests of the Misses Billie and Beckey Wallace, co-hostesses at their home on Euclid avenue.

Adding variety to the program of diversion, attention was given to contests in a game called "Four, Five and Six". Prizes were carried off by Mrs. Norma Varley and Mrs. John Hitch. In conclusion, the guests were served a tempting menu of refreshments, hearts again predominating in the appointments.

Mrs. Norma Varley, Hazel street, invited the girls to her home for their next meeting, February 22.

1926 Ki Nu Club.

Mrs. George Kennedy of Beckford street will be hostess to the 1926 Ki Nu club Thursday evening.

POPULAR PLAY IS REVIEWED FOR GROUP

Vivid reading of the dramatic social problem play "Dead End" was given by Mrs. J. W. Brewster, at the meeting of the Fine Arts department of the Woman's club, Monday afternoon in the home of John E. Elliott, Berger place.

Adding to the general interest of the review, were pictures of the stage settings and characters in the play shown by Mrs. Brewster.

Mrs. D. M. Arnold, chairman of the Drama section of the department, was in charge of the meeting. The regular book exchange took place and suggestions were made by members of the group for an addition to the department library.

The final selection will be made by Mrs. J. G. Berry, chairman of the Fine Arts department and Mrs. C. L. Mellinger, chairman of the Literature group.

Tea was served from an attractively laid table, adorned with gleaming crystal and pastel motifs, with a centerpiece of cut flowers the setting being typically spring. Mrs. Berry poured, and Mrs. L. C. Hughes co-hosted with Mrs. Elliott, assisted in serving.

The meeting yesterday was unusually interesting with a good attendance which made the discussions of current topics keenly enjoyed as so many participated. Critics were Mrs. T. A. Gilkey and Mrs. R. A. McKinney.

On account of the party, the next regular meeting will not be held until March 8, when Mrs. John Emery, Euclid avenue, will be hostess.

North Beaver Club.

New Castle Chapter, O. E. S. "Home Towne Revue" Success

Just because a show troop supposedly failed to make its scheduled appearance, and the fact that it rained quite steadily last evening, didn't interfere in any way with the success of the "Home Towne Revue" presented in the East Lodge room of the Cathedral, by New Castle Chapter, No. 105, Order of the Eastern Star.

The opening scene found Stage Manager, William Reed (worthy patron), who was slicked up in a tuxedo, pacing the stage in wonderment as to what to do—as his show didn't come in, and his audience was waiting—"was greatly relieved when he had volunteers from the audience.

Master of ceremonies Reed and his assistant, Mrs. Bessie Pitzer as "Willie Winkle" the latter decked out in a derby, big bow tie and the best Sunday suit in the Winkle household, proceeded to pinch-hit with impersonations and conversation. They announced the following acts taken from the audience, and the show goes on.

A group of girls in frilly old-fashioned lace gowns with big hats, offered their services as the "Flordadora Girls" as the first act. They danced their ditties and sang so sweetly—to tunes played by Mrs. Kathryn Allen, taking part were: Mrs. Margaret Wheldon Mrs. Ethel Bollard, Mrs. Betty Montgomery and Mrs. Parthena Heath.

Second—was a skit "Emalina and Barney Bottle Cap" enacted by Mrs. Jennie Martin, as the latter character and Mrs. Marjorie Brinton as the former, in appropriate attire. Their theme centered about the henpecked husband.

Third—"Two Black Crows" was presented in an excellent manner by Mrs. Agnes O'Neil and Mrs. Lydia Hanna, accompanied. Fourth—"A Friends of the Family" with Mrs. Margaret Frank portraying the popular vamp role, and Virginia Bowman, as the old lady and gossiping friend of the family, brought roars of laughter.

Fifth—"Reuben and Rachael" were portrayed by Ruth Weir and Florence Campbell, an outfit that is bound to please. Sixth—was the mind reading act, with the famous and internationally known "Mrs. Jones" conducting the circle. Mrs. Dorothy Stoddard enacted this character, and was assisted by The Professor—Mrs. Mayme Streib. Their costumes proved a riot.

Outstanding, was the widely known "Ted Shaun's" orchestra with Miss Mary Harvard, leader. She, attired in a tuxedo with high silk hat, called upon members of her band, all of whom were dressed as "kiddies" in rompers, enhanced with pig tails, ribbons, and each working overtime on a lollipop.

They enacted most cleverly, the following numbers, "Humpty Dumpty Dumpty," "Little Boy Blue," "Peep," "Dicky Dock," "Jack and Jill" and others. In this group were: Mrs. Mae Turner, Mrs. Anna M. Jones, Mrs. Lillian Henry, Mrs. Prudence Harris, Mrs. Mary Lloyd, Mrs. Anna Virtue, Miss Lillian Solomo, Miss Mae Thomas and Miss Mary Owens. Their bill was a riot, and added much to the success of the evening.

The various acts, giving the appearance of "filling to fill in" for the side-tracked original show, was cleverly planned and carried out to the Nth degree by those taking part.

At the close, each filed on and off the stage, taking a much deserved bow. Master of Ceremonies Reed and his assistant "Willie Winkle," concluded in announcing this event marked the final social entertainment to be given by the chapter under their present and gracious worthy matron, Mrs. Margaret Wheldon. A hundred and fifty attended.

On the committee in charge, were: Mrs. Bessie Pitzer, chairman; Mrs. Marjorie Brinton, Mrs. Margaret Frank, Mrs. Florence Campbell, Mrs. Mary Owens, Mrs. Margaret Wheldon, Mrs. Dorothy Stoddard, Mrs. Jennie Martin, Mrs. Ethel Pollard, Mrs. Kathryn Allen, Mrs. Parthena Heath, the Misses Ruth Weir, Virginia Bowman and Mary Harvard, and worthy patron, William Reed.

Diversion was found in interesting games of euchre to while away after-dinner hours, and lovely trophies were presented to the winners. The next meeting will take place in a fortnight, with Mr. and Mrs. George Cooper hosts.

CENSORSHIP RESULT

IN TIMES of stress, such as the present flood emergency, it is probably out of order to blame public officials for what they do or say.

Nevertheless it does not seem out of order to point out a situation which arose recently in Louisville, Ky., one of the worst hit of the flood-ridden cities in the Ohio Valley.

As soon as conditions in the city became grave, the officials established a censorship, the results of which may give pause to officials of other towns if they are visited by an emergency at any future time.

The motive back of the action of the Louisville officials was a worthy one. They wished to prevent the possibility of panic among the flood victims which might arise from exaggerated reports of the scope of the disaster. The method they used served to bring about the condition which they wished to avoid.

One of the city health department officials estimated there were at least 200 dead in the city. At once the report was ordered held up and then a rigid censorship was set up, under which the number of dead or their identity was not revealed.

The result could have been expected. Estimates of the dead began to run into the thousands as the wildest rumors flew about the city. These rumors were fed by official secrecy.

The time-tested way to avoid panic under such conditions is to give the whole truth to the people. They will know they are being given a true picture of conditions as they exist and as a result will be less frightened than under the uncertainty of censorship.

MAN'S FIRST BUILDING

Discovery by University of Pennsylvania and other archaeologists of the first example of Stone Age architecture in a Mesopotamian pit where they had expected to find only simple pottery attests anew that scientists are still, in a most literal sense, merely scratching the surface of history.

The Stone Age remains, after all the scattered excavating, as chronologically vague as it is factually nebulous. Its rough subdivision into eolithic, palaeolithic, mesolithic and neolithic eras helps little.

This acropolis, dating back to 4000 B. C., makes the "ancient" Maya civilization of about 400 A. D. in Yucatan seem modern. That it was probably used as a temple suggests a new phase of man's religious development. And that it rests on only the thirteenth of twenty layers or strata being uncovered presages further significant finds. While these revelations are ever of great intrinsic interest in thus interpreting the past, they continue to provide control points for us in mapping the future.

VALENTINES

Fashions come and go, but one old fashion, that of sending valentines on February 14, never dies out. The eternal mystery and attraction of sex never changes with the fads of the moment.

Back in ancient history, names of young men and women were put in boxes. Anyone desiring the companionship of the other sex could draw out a name and the people thus chosen by chance were supposed to "keep company" for a year.

Countless lovers used to address sugary missives, all dolled up with pictures of hearts and cupid, to fair maidens, and tremble with fear to see how the adored one took it. She was not commonly offended. Today valentines are a pretty way of showing sentimental interest, without meaning so much by it.

The young lady does not expect an immediate call to the minister's, merely because she obtains a nice valentine on February 14.

More Press Comment
On Judiciary Reform

Dallas Journal—The President's demand for the right to appoint six new justices on the Supreme Court, on that ground that the nine now on the bench are so old that they can't be fair to a new idea, results in putting the court "on the spot." That is a bad situation for American government. It is always bad for any department of government to try to shake the faith of the people in any other branch. When sovereignty becomes divided against itself the people lose.

Portland Oregonian—It is difficult to imagine an individual who honestly believes the President would be concerned over the aging of justices on the Supreme Court had the court sustained major New Deal legislation. And only two years ago he publicly denied that he had any intention of recommending an increase in the Supreme Court should its decisions be unfavorable to administration measures.

Omaha World Herald—There can be no misunderstanding the purpose of the President's "surprise message" to the Congress Friday, insofar as it relates to the Supreme Court.

He asks that to the instruments of power previously placed in his hands another, the greatest of all, be added. This is the legal right to be conferred by the Congress to take charge of court so as to make it conform in this emergent time to his will as leader of the republic and its government.

Des Moines Register—The President loves his dramatic surprises. His message is, from the standpoint of construction, a magnificent

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PROVIDING PLAY SPOTS

In cities of 25,000 or over, 58 per cent of the families lived in one-family dwellings in 1921. Only 38 per cent of the families lived in one-family houses in 1927. The number of families in two-family houses dropped slightly during that time, and living in apartment houses doubled between 1921 and 1927.

Accurate figures for the percentage of families with young children dwelling in two-family or apartment houses are not available. But we can safely assume that, except in congested areas, the percentage is much smaller than for families with older children or childless families. During the lowest depression there was great increase of moving-in of families of young children with the "old folks" or with another family. As economic conditions have improved, this doubling up of families has diminished. Letters from mothers about problems growing out of living with another family have greatly decreased.

In London, last summer, I listened to a panel discussion on housing problems by representatives of the leading nations of the world. I concluded that whereas the local and federal governments in the United States have been slow in tackling this problem, it looks as if the federal housing projects already completed, or under way, have made better provisions for recreation, especially by children, than have been in practice in foreign countries, except perhaps the prodigious housing project developed in Vienna several years ago. I visited some of the Vienna centers last summer and was impressed particularly with the splendid provisions for young children of the working class in those areas, though the program has sadly departed from its original purposes.

Low Income Group Unprovided For
In still hears at various conferences, from sociologists and social workers, the complaint that the federal housing projects have not yet provided an adequate program for the very low income groups.

Some large apartment houses have provided safe play places on the roof, in the court or basement for young children, also play schools, together with recreation facilities for older children and adults. But for the average apartment house containing many young children or children of school age, provision for these children is woefully inadequate. Here is a problem which should challenge young parents who live in apartments.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE REASON

Why is the U. S. A. the most criminal nation on the face of the globe?

The so-called backward nations will not play with criminals as we do. Take Mexico as an example. The Mexicans are as most Latin races, revolutionary minded. The government of Mexico is just now communist. But Mexico does not countenance the crime of robbery, burglary, arson, kidnapping, murder and all such offenses. You can leave valuable things in your automobile in any Mexican village or city, go away without even locking your car and your property will be there when you return. Should anyone take any part of it, they would be nearly ninety-nine times out of one hundred be caught and within twenty-four hours be tried and punished. The punishment would be, in most cases, death, shot in the morning.

The Lindbergh kidnapping was repeated in Seattle. The boy kidnapped was older, but he was brutally murdered as was the Lindbergh child. If the criminal is ever caught, this trial will, in all probability, be drawn out for days. A plea of criminal insanity will be offered; the criminal will be sent to an asylum for the criminally minded. He may kill his keeper, escape and commit some other terrifying crime. Or it will be said after a year or so that he is cured; he will be released and permitted to repeat the same kind of an offense.

Punishment of crime is not ordained for the purpose of retribution. It is to protect society from the criminal; to make it impossible for that person to do the same thing again. Criminals are not hung or burned in the electric chair on the principal of an "eye for an eye; a tooth for a tooth." It is to serve as an object lesson to those who might be criminally disposed and keep them, if possible, from doing the same thing.

This criminal insanity plea is the most vicious of all ploys. If a man is actually criminally insane, there is no cure for him. As long as he lives he is a menace to society and the sooner he is removed entirely from the earth, the better for his fellow men.

Such a one killed a man in the West several years ago. He was sent to an asylum. He was released as cured in a year or so. He did the same act again, and again was adjudged criminally insane and shut up in the same asylum. There he actually killed a guard. He escaped and killed another citizen. He has now been at large for several weeks. What will the courts do with him if caught. Probably the same thing.

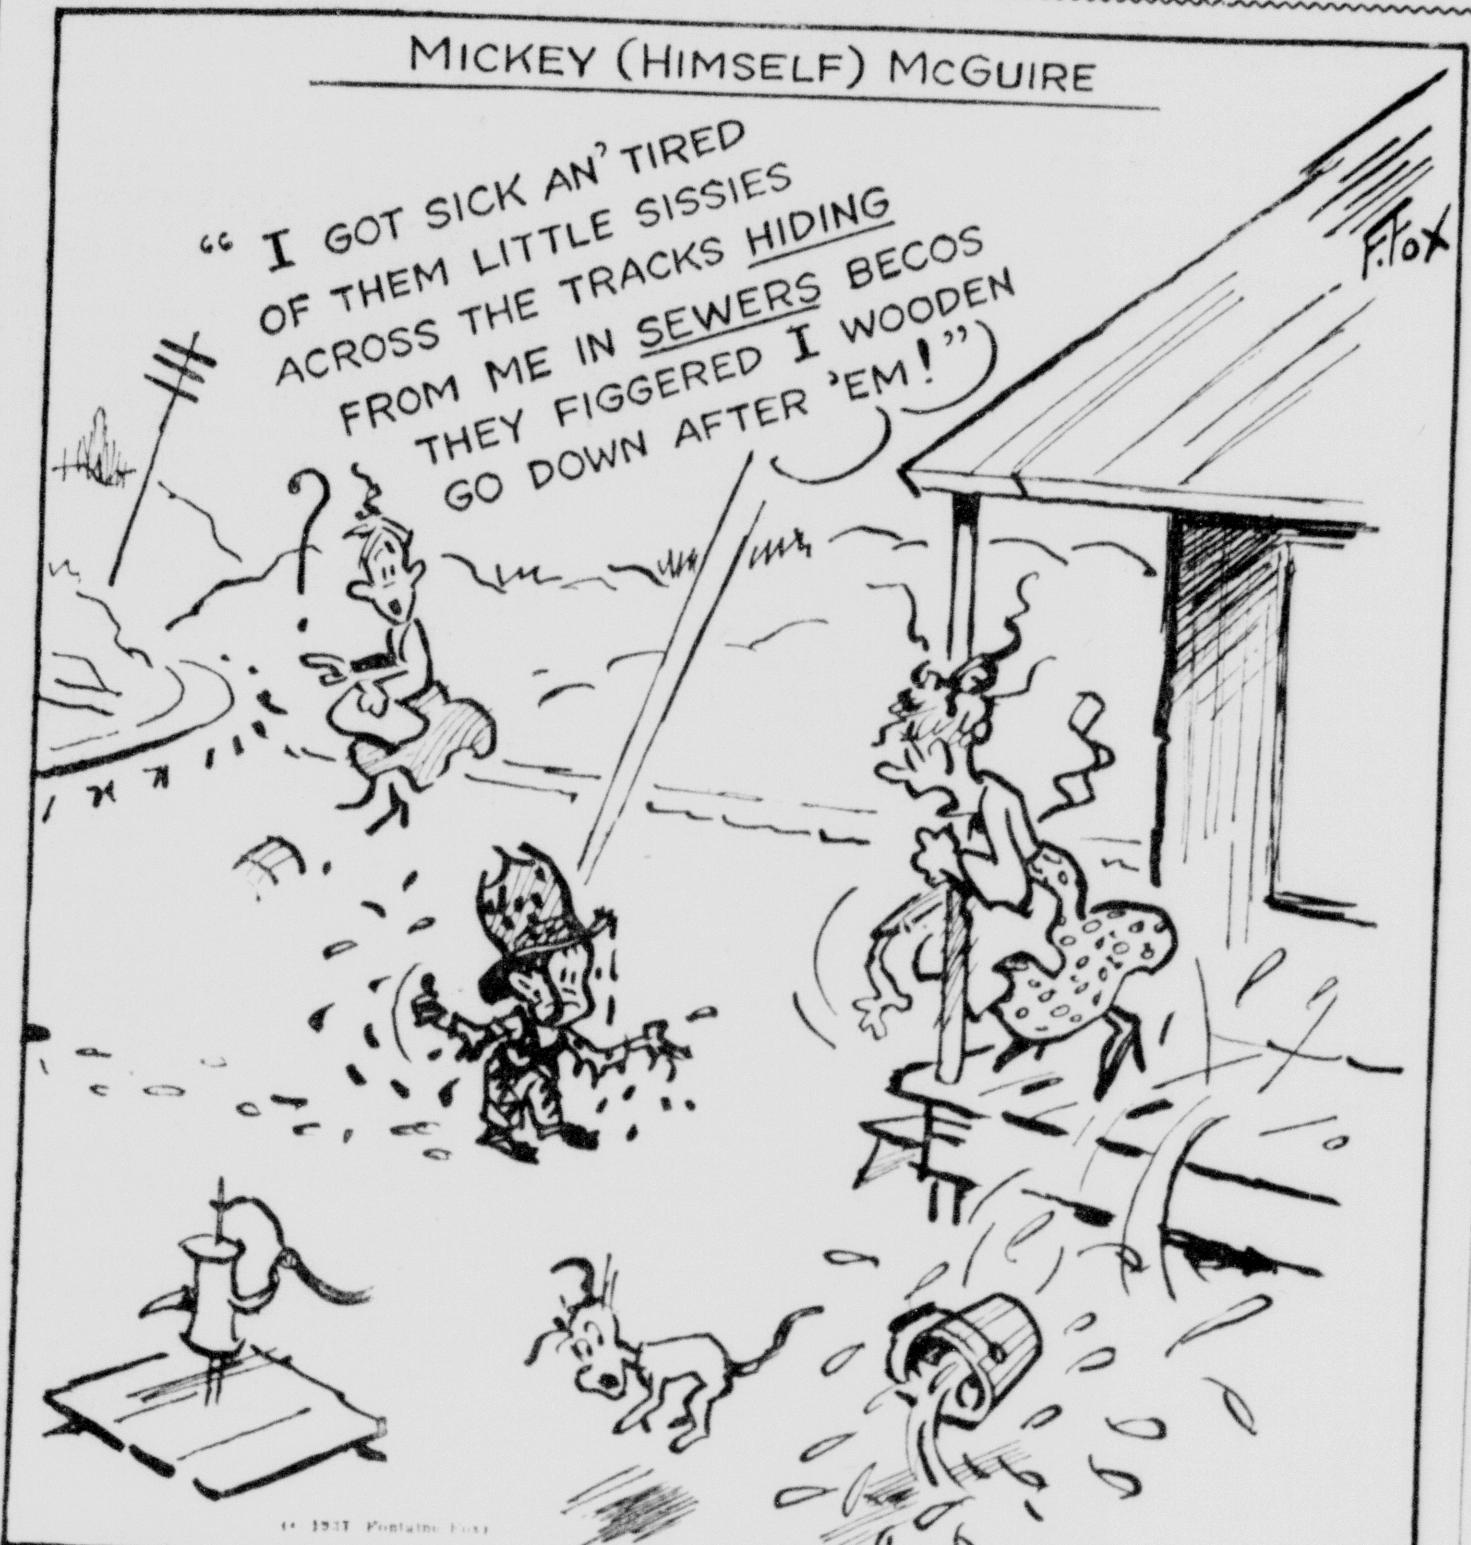

And that is why the U. S. A. is the most criminal nation on the face of the earth.

The World At A Glance

Both Sides Of Court Question.
Does Not Seem Popular To People.
Labor Wants Court Curbed.

By LESLIE EICHEL

Central Press Columnist

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S supreme court recommendations please neither side in the country at large, according to observers.

A large mass of people desire a constitutional amendment, as a curb on the court.

The opposing group desires no change.

There is no question as to where organized labor stands. It is with the first group. And that first group, pointing to election returns, says it has a majority of the people with it. It believes the president's plan does not go far enough, does not, through a constitutional amendment, put a definite curb on the court.

The second group, which has the greater power for voicing its opinion, claims that it has the majority with it.

Whichever may be the case, the question has become the uppermost in conversation.

SHARP

President Roosevelt's message on the supreme court had numerous sharp passages. They have been freely published. We shall not take up space by re-quoting them here. The entire message is worth reading and re-reading in order to understand the present attacks and counter-attacks.

The message contains much concerning court procedure which the layman has not hitherto understood. But, concerning invalidation of laws passed by congress and "government by injunction," the message contains less than already has been published by organized labor and liberals. Except that it highlights these criticisms as has no other comment in the past.

OPPOSITION

Among the persons who rushed to assail the president's message are some who may not be backed up at home. For example, Michigan is very much pro-Roosevelt at the moment, and Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, although himself a popular man, may not be speaking for the majority in his state. Nor may Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri. Nor Representative Hamilton Fish of New York. Nor Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon.

On the other hand, southern senators supporting the president's message may not have a majority with them at home.

If observers are correct, the industrial states will be with the president on this issue. The immense majorities they gave to the president in November indicate that, these observers say.

CRITICS

Three previous presidents spoke out forcibly concerning the supreme court. They were Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson and Abraham Lincoln.

Two defied the court on occasions—Jackson and Lincoln.

Suppose his boy should rise to fame, think you I'd not be glad to read the tale of his success and boast: "I know his dad?"

If tragedy should come to him, would I not suffer too?

To think so sad a time should fall upon a man I knew.

Once having shaken hands with him, for pleasure or for pain

Forever after I must share his every loss and gain.

Today's Yesterdays, Feb. 9, 1815—A newspaper advertisement in London caused the public to become acquainted with the tragedy of a young woman, normally and attractively formed save in one respect. Feb. 9, 1870—The first United States government weather bureau was instituted, with the approval by the President (Grant) of a bill assigning meteorological duties to the Signal Corps of the Army. Its first chief was Brig. Gen. Albert James Myer. By November of that year he had 24 bureaus established in the country to exchange telegraphic information upon which forecasts could be based.

In 1856, when Smithsonian Institution began collecting weather information by telegraph, farmers and businessmen were not interested in it. Not until the value of the systematized weather service developed by Cleveland Abbe for the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce had been demonstrated impressively, was there a demand for a government Weather Bureau.

Feb. 9, 1933—The Weather Bureau found where the coldest spot in the U. S. was—in Yellowstone Park. Thermometers there registered 66 deg. below zero at Riverside observatory, which is barely within Montana boundaries.

HOLLYWOOD—Wesley Ruggles, motion picture director, believes more attention should be paid to the film tastes of the smaller cities: "Broadway represents only a very small percentage of the nation's annual billion dollar box office."

NEW ALIGNMENT

The president's message once more brought into bold relief the realignment taking place in parties. Conservative Democrats take the stand with conservative Republicans. Liberal Republicans go over to the side of the Roosevelt Democrats. Old party designations mean nothing any more.

And it must not be forgotten that a strong labor group is to the left of Roosevelt Democrats.

LIBERALS DISAGREE

Liberals disagree suggesting the plan on which the president's message was based. They frankly term it "makeshift" and do not desire it known as theirs.

For example, Peter Witt, noted Cleveland liberal, is quoted as saying: "I have no objection to the court being increased to fifteen. But I am strongly of the opinion that the best thing to do is to amend the Constitution to agree with the Ohio provision, which requires a six to one vote of the state supreme court to reverse a law drawn by the legislature."

It is a queer situation, with the president in the middle. But one thing remains certain—Franklin D. Roosevelt continues to be an unpredictable quantity.

Duke Of Windsor Is Determined To Wed Mrs. Simpson

Believes That Years Of Ultimate Happiness Lie Ahead For Them

Will Not Listen To Pleadings Of Anyone To Abandon Plans For Marriage

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1937, By International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The Duke of Windsor informed friends in London over the week-end that he will reject any effort, no matter what source, to dissuade him from marrying Mrs. Wallis Simpson. It was learned today.

The former king has set his mind on making Mrs. Simpson his wife, and is counting the days until granting of his divorce decree absolute will enable her to become his bride.

Wants Happiness
Only the thought of their future marriage and what he firmly believes will be their resultant lifelong happiness together, these friends were told, make his present situation bearable and ease the heart-ache of being isolated in a foreign land away from family, friends, and old associations.

Members of the "Diehard" nobility, certain embittered courtiers, and church circles are reported to be the behind-the-scenes directors of the new series of anti-marriage stories which today culminated by bringing in the name of the royal family as being among the objectors.

No Pressure
But International News Service learned from authoritative circles that there is no truth in any suggestion that the royal family is bringing pressure on the Duke of Windsor to abandon the projected marriage.

No member of his family, it was declared, would care to cause the unhappy ex-monarch unhappiness by trying to compel such a step. Stories that Mary, the Princess Royal, is conveying the family's opposition to the marriage were ridiculed by informed circles. Her present visit to the duke at Castle Ennsfeld, Austria, it was stated, is mainly concerned with informing her brother of the reasons behind the reported decision to grant him an annuity from private sources, instead of naming him openly on the civil list.

Sister On Visit
Also motivating the visit was the desire of the royal family to give Edward the companionship of his only sister for a few weeks to ease the burden of waiting until, late in April, the marriage will be possible. The princess royal likewise sought to make up for postponement of the Duke of Kent's proposed visit.

Court circles were emphatic in declaring that the Duke of Windsor has not budged from the attitude which he summed up in his memorable abdication broadcast, saying he quit the throne "for the woman I love."

Alice Roosevelt Longworth tells how Senators choose a light smoke... considerate of their throats

"I often lunch in the Senate restaurant at the Capitol. Nearly every Senator and Representative there smokes, and the number I see take out a package of Luckies is quite surprising. Perhaps surprising is not the word. Because off and on, ever since 1917, I myself have used Luckies for this sound reason: They really are a light smoke—kind to the throat. It's simply common sense that these Senators and Representatives, whose voices must meet the continuous strain of public speaking, should also need a cigarette that is considerate of their throats... a light smoke."

For the first time in many weeks the board of county commissioners is meeting with all three members present. For a number of weeks Commissioner Floyd L. Cotton was in the hospital. He returned for a few hours each day and Commissioner George H. Bolinger went down with the flu. Then Commissioner Joseph Hannon went down but they are all on the job again.

One of the first tasks taken up Monday was the building of the budget for the coming year. County Controller Frank W. Hill was closeted with the commissioners most of Monday going over the estimates of income and expenditures. Before the budget can be finally approved the salary board must meet and set the salaries for the year. Some equalization is possible this year. Commissioner Cotton believing that some adjustments should be made in some of the departments.

In court on Monday, Joseph Eve was appointed guardian of Gerald G. Ponteous, a minor.

The excuses for absolution from jury duty are many and varied. One juror is engaged in a job that requires all his time and he can't get off. Another is planning a trip before the week is out and he wants to get away. Still another doesn't feel so good and thinks jury duty would be injurious to his health. Oddly enough few women jurors ever ask to be excused. They seem to want to serve and observation of juries while in the jury box is that the women pay close attention to the evidence. Lawrence County's experience with women as jurors has been good, on the whole. Where severity in criminal cases has been required they have been severe, in some cases voting for the death penalty.

A tipstaff can be a valuable man around a court house or he can be an annoyance with a sense of false importance. Jack Eberle, one of the tipstaves might easily write a set of rules for tipstaves. Mr. Eberle has been around the court house for several years and seems to believe that tipstaves should be seen and not heard. He is a veteran steel worker and at one time worked with James A. Farrell, later president of the United States Steel Corporation.

In the early youth of the writer he was a policeman on the city force and one of our first remembrances of respect for the dignity of the law was Officer Eberle. Today he goes about his duties in the court house quietly and efficiently, and epitomizes the qualities that make for a perfect tipstaff.

Supervisor C. R. Ward of the State Department of Revenue is back on his job in the court house aiding citizens in the filing of personal property tax returns. Today he warned citizens that February 15 is the deadline for the filing of returns and there would be no extension of time. Persons not filed on that date will be subject to penalty.

The present term of court which opened on Monday is another civil court and as usual will be composed mostly of automobile damage cases. Each year sees an increasing number of automobile accidents, and in the past five years the majority of civil suits have been through that cause.

AUTHORIZE TYPIST

During council meeting Monday at city hall, colleagues gave permission to Finance Director James L. Fink to employ a typist for several days for the purpose of typewriting reports.

"I'M ALWAYS LOOKING FOR TROUBLE!"

"That's my job — to find trouble on your telephone line before you find it. You see, I'm a Test Man in a telephone central office. It's my job to find trouble before it troubles you! Switches and dials tell me what and where trouble may hit. Then I send a repairman to fix it. Very often we can catch it before it affects your service and you never realize that there has been trouble on your line!"

We telephone people spend a lot of time and money to keep your service free from mechanical failures. But some people have telephone troubles of another kind. They waste time and effort — even lose sales and customers — due to inadequate telephone facilities or the wrong equipment to meet the needs of office, home, store or factory. Why not let us study your telephone problems and check your facilities? There's no obligation. Just call the Business Office.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Reorganization Is Coming Slowly

Congress Is Now Rushing
Plans For Reorganization Of Government

BALK AT LOSING TOO MUCH POWER

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Congress is showing less inclination to rush through President Roosevelt's governmental reorganization plan than might have been expected, considering how strongly the White House tenant emphasized it as a "must" piece of business for his enormous majority on Capitol Hill to attend to.

The fact is that the lawmakers quite generally feel balky at the idea of surrendering so much of their legislative authority to the president.

Outsiders may not realize it but the truth is that congressmen are extremely jealous of their prescribed rights under the constitution. The senate is as proud as Punch of its executive title to confirm presidential appointments and ratify treaties. The house of representatives is equally conceited over its prerogative to initiate all financial legislation.

They are jealous of one another and jointly jealous of the executive power.

A DIFFERENCE

Now, the so-called "independent offices" which congress creates are supposed to be manned by congress own hired men, answerable only to congress.

A cabinet member is different. He, in effect, simply is one of the president's secretaries. His presidential appointment is subject to senatorial approval, but, once in office, he is a congressional servant. He can be impeached, to be sure, but it is a difficult process.

An "independent office" on the other hand, is established to do work that congress hasn't time to do with, but which it doesn't choose to entrust to the president or his subordinates.

McCARL'S POST

A conspicuous office of this kind is that of comptroller general.

Something more than 15 years ago congress arrived at the conclusion that Uncle Sam's money was being wasted. Accordingly it voted into existence a functionary to decide which were and which were not legitimate expenditures. It was aware that this officeholder would be subjected to tremendous pressure. Therefore it gave him a 15-year term—one term, no more, but irremovable in the meantime.

For a decade and a half John R. McCarl held this job. Heaven knows how much money he saved the government—and each time he saved a nickel he made an enemy.

Well, his 15 year term has expired.

Naturally, he was a terrible nuisance. As naturally, the presidential reorganization plan calls for the abolition of that office.

UNDER PRESIDENT

There are 50 odd of these independent offices.

Many of them ought to be extinguished certainly.

But their extinction is not what the governmental reorganization plan contemplates.

The reorganization program contemplates grouping them into present or newly-to-be-created cabinet departments, under presidential jurisdiction—and thus continuing them.

TOO MUCH CENTRALIZATION

For example: The Interstate Commerce Commission or the Federal Trade Board.

Under the governmental reorganization plan the commerce department will gobble both of them.

Congress fights the notion. Too much centralization!

U. S. Leads World In Alien Residents New Survey Shows

GENEVA, Feb. 9.—More aliens inhabit the United States and Argentina than any other countries of the world.

This was shown by statistics compiled for the first time by the International Labor Office. They were based on the latest census figures and showed that in 1930, 1.6 per cent. of the world's population lived in foreign lands. The United States had the greatest number. The total in 1930 was 6,285,000—or 21.8 per cent. of the world total. Next came Argentina, with 2,828,000, or 9.8 per cent. of the world total.

The grand totals or relative position of countries were not appreciably changed during the last six years.

France came third in the list with a foreign population of 2,409,000. Then, in the order named, came British Malaya with 1,087,000; Siam, 1,000,000; Algeria, 910,000; Hong Kong, 850,000, and Germany 757,000.

By continents more than a third of the world's aliens, 36.7 per cent., resided in the Americas. Asia had 28.6 per cent.; Europe, 21.6 per cent.; Africa, 10.2 per cent., and Oceania, 2.9 per cent.

Dr. Imre Ferenczi, statistician of the Labor Bureau, under whose direction the statistics were compiled, emphasizes that all the percentages were approximate because they did not take into account Brazil, Cuba and Ceylon, where there were large numbers of aliens. He said Brazil which had an alien population of more than one million and a half in 1920, probably would rank fourth.

With regard to the number of persons born abroad of foreign parents, the statistics showed a decline in the United States from 147 a thousand in habitants in 1910, to 116 a thousand in 1930.

The tide of Asiatic emigration is swelling, the statistics indicated. The number of Asiatics in foreign lands increased from 5,000,000 in 1910 to 9,500,000 in 1930. . . . But the number of Europeans resident in foreign countries was more than twice as large as the total of Asiatics. In 1930 it stood at 22,400,000.

Great Britain led the field in the number of citizens living abroad. The number in 1930 was 4,115,049. The United States was seventh with 466,500.

Novel Miniature Stage Outfit Constructed As Pattern For Union High Amateur Show Set

Building models of stage sets is something new and unusual for amateur productions in this part of the country, but according to Merrill C. Young, it is nothing new for the members of the Union High school Palette club, of which he is the supervisor.

The members of the club have just completed a most colorful set which will be produced in full-size for the presentation of "Radio Varieties of 1937", which is scheduled for the evening of March 5, in the school auditorium.

Every little detail is built, in miniature, so that no errors may be made, and the best effects may be obtained from the stage settings. Even the lighting effect is planned on the miniature stage, in order that when the large outfit is built, the student electricians will know just where to place the lights to obtain the best results.

Various shades of red, blended with silver and gold, produce a most artistic effect in the setting, and when the lights are added the stage radiates personality, and helps to add a realistic touch to the surroundings. Grouped around in a semi-circle, will be the orchestra which will furnish the accompaniment for the radio program, the piano player being the centerpiece, and the drummer man, having a very lofty seat. As an unusual feature the drum outfit is built up on a platform even with the top of the piano, and thus the rhythm maker of the band has the highest position of the entire outfit.

The center front of the stage is graced with a microphone through which the imitated radio celebrities will perform. It is through the properties of these amateur shows that the art department of the township school is supported. Many supplies are purchased and the students have all of the up-to-date materials for learning the basic fundamentals of art work.

KILL THAT COLD

Give It No Chance to Survive Thru the Use of Half-way Measures!

Treat a cold to kill it, not to coddle it!
Many a cold lightly treated turns into something worse.

Hit a cold "where it lives"—in the system! That means to take an internal treatment.

Hit it with a cold medicine, not with a preparation good for all kinds of ailments.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is the treatment you want.

First of all, it is a cold tablet,
made expressly for colds.

Second, it is internal medication and of fourfold effect.

Here's what it does:

First, it opens the bowels, an advisable step in the treatment of a cold.

Second, it checks the infection in the system, a vital step.

Third, it relieves the headache and fever.

Fourth, it tones the system and helps fortify against further attack.

That's the fourfold treatment a cold calls for and in Bromo Quinine you get it in the form of a single tablet.

Bromo Quinine tablets now come sugar-coated as well as plain.

The sugar-coated are exactly the same as the regular, except that the tablets are coated with sugar for palatability.

When you feel a cold coming on,
don't "monkey around" with halfway measures.

Go right to your drugstore for a package of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine tablets.

Start taking the tablets immediately, two every four hours. Used in time, Bromo Quinine will usually break up a cold in 24 hours and that's the speed you want.

Prize Fighters Seek Broadway

Former Pugilists Are Going Into Restaurant Business In New York Now

BEST OF GHOST WRITERS PASSES

(By O. O. McINTYRE)

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The success of Jack Dempsey in the role of a restaurateur is developing what diners on call Canfield Corner. Jack occupies one of the other three contiguous to his one-story site. Still another on a corner block away is also in the hands of a ring hero.

Along with the flood of hamburgers, Tony Canzoneri has taken on a partnership in a place to be called Canzoneri's. He, like Dempsey, will be the front man, greeting customers and awing the ladies with his gargoyle face, scarred by many valiant fistie battles.

And James Braddock, the newest champion, is to tie in with the fighting Brillat-Savarin with a gaudy theme where he, too, will be high priest of the entrance ropes.

Then to complete the four-cornered zone the glossy ex-champion Benny Leonard is angling for a site for a glittering bistro.

Berton Bralley is the most prolific of the modern messengers. And has been for 25 years. One of his notable poetical achievements was to do a world series ball game play by play by verse telegraphed in the same manner as news reports. He begins work in the morning bath, having paid and pencil handy to jot down wandering lines that may swim into his ken. His pockets are filled with scratch pads on which he will dash off a metre or so where ever he may be. I used to be one of a weekly gang of pool players that included Bralley, and between shots he was usually wooing the muse. When a poem is finished he keeps it going the rounds until sold. Sometimes it has taken two years but in the end he usually gets his editor.

Then the top flight industrialist—known in many magazine shops under his pseudonym—who is certainly a case. He has been trying to land his jingles for more than ten years. So far his only acceptance has been a Christmas roundel printed in his own house organ. Considered a two-fisted desk pounder, his fustions are about the gooiest that go the rounds.

The sudden passing of Dave Freedman, some weeks ago, removed the most celebrated of the ghost writers. Also a top rung gag and script writer. From his anonymity, he made several notable bow takers famous and added to the celebrity of many more. He was a writer of marked talents in the new field of radio as well as for prints. I think he scaled a philosophic peak in his first short story in which he had a character say: "What is love?—A cigar. The brighter it burns the quicker it's ashes." But Freedman, who came up from the Ghettos, did not care much for personal acclaim. He did not mind letting others take credit for his artistry but he could never conceal his contempt for them. He made a fortune in his brief whirl, lived like a Rajah and died broke.

About the only familiar spot left along the porticoed shopping stretch of the rue de Rivoli, returning travelers say, is Smith's quaint and venerable English book shop on the rue Cambon corner. Smith's remains as it has for 30 years, suggesting in the heart of Paris the ivied somnolence of a village shop in Surrey. The clerks are elderly high nosed star boarder types found in the Bloomsbury paying-guest houses. And they permit one to prowl—a gesture American book mongers have not acquired. Up-Cockney waitresses where one may—in France of all places—partake of the tastiest ice cream, a possible exception is our own Schrafft's coffee flavor, in the world. Somerset Maugham and Frank Crownshield always go to Smith's for tea and it was the locale for one of Leonard Merrick's love-on-the-boulevard canticles. All book shops should have the feeling that nothing matters very much save the books. That is the feeling at Smith's and it's why, perhaps it has survived.

At times I think they shouldn't let me out alone. Today they sent me over to Third avenue to pick up a paring knife, to supplant the desk drawer. I came back with not only a paring knife but a bean stringer, grape fruit corer, pea huller and slaw cutter. Which caused a certain lady to cry: "What, no meat axe?" Lenin's Widow Under Arrest

Mme. Krupskaya reportedly has been openly criticizing Stalin for some time, the article read.

Rumors of her arrest have arisen frequently, but all have been denied in Moscow.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Comstock and Mrs. Mary Allen Boyd spent Sunday afternoon with the latter's son Harry W. Boyd and family of Warren, O.

The Men's Brotherhood meeting at the United Presbyterian church has been postponed from Friday evening, February 12, until Friday evening, February 26, on account of the week of prayer at the college.

The students who left the school for Ben Franklin were honored at this time, they being special guests of the occasion.

AROUND CITY HALL

Legal advice to city officials is not the only duty in the city legal department. One of the biggest jobs is the collection of delinquent taxes and installment on liens. During last year more than $100,000 was collected and in the first month of the present year about $10,000 was turned into that department.

Police department is the clearing house for everything from "what time is it?" to "there's a bad hole in a street." One of the oddest calls received during the past few years was a request police dislodge and capture a skunk that took refuge beneath a house.

Jack Young, the dog catcher, turned up recently at the police station with a lacerated hand, a dog having attacked the pound-keeper.

Carpenters and bricklayers from the WPA are working on the lodging room for itinerants. The lodging room will be quite large. No itinerants will be placed in the jail corridor after the number of men apply for lodging. They are accommodated by police who do not want them roaming the streets.

Machines which police claim are gambling devices and which were collected during raids are yet held at the city building.

All of the police cars are now in the patrol barn. For sometime one or two were out of commission due to the city motor mechanic restoring them to good condition. When the city authorities decide upon a design for city motorized equipment the insignia will be placed on the police cars the same as on other motor vehicles owned by the city.

The open winter has caused considerable extra work for the streets department. Unpaved street are mushy and must be ashed often.

Efficiency of the traffic light at North Jefferson and Grant streets, is shown by the scarcity of accidents there, according to authorities. Since the light was erected only two minor accidents have occurred. Previously more accidents occurred there than at any other point. The "Go and Stop" light is converted into a blinker when snow begins falling.

George Patterson, former assistant assessor for the city, circulated in city hall yesterday. He worked about eight months of last year.

Building operations during January in the city of New Castle are estimated to have cost approximately $10,000,000. New construction cost $4,575,000, according to bureau of building reports and remodeling, $6,100.

GOVERNOR EARLE CONFERS WITH PRESIDENT

Federal Aid Is Discussed

State Legislature Drifts Along Awaiting Outcome Of Fund Conference

BUILDING PROGRAM GETS CONSIDERATION

By FREDERICK N. POLANGIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Feb. 9.—While the 132nd general assembly trudged along a none-too-well-solved trail, Gov. George H. Earle was in Washington today seeking some missing millions to patch up his delayed budget message.

The toe-tapping legislators today found themselves stymied, with little on their hands save the advancing of relatively unimportant calendars, reporting out bills and marking time in anticipation of the "mandate" program which has as yet to appear in any appreciable form.

Await "Go-Signal".

They were awaiting the "go-signal" from the chief executive whose battle for the moment appeared upstream in view of his legislative and fiscal difficulties.

Today he was to take up many matters with President Roosevelt and other federal authorities and prospects for the moment were not bright. Ostensibly, he will seek "assurances" of federal funds to carry out his long-sought but constantly teetering $60,000,000 institutional building program which would now be possible under the recently validated general state authority act.

Originally, the governor had hoped for PWA funds to carry out this program, but that was before the state supreme court had previously invalidated the authority act. Since then much water has gone over the dam.

PWA officials have told him, and it appeared unlikely that the "revolving fund" will be placed at his disposal.

Other Business.

At the moment, it appeared that his only hope lay in assurances that congress will either extend PWA or create other funds to be used by the commonwealth. Observers were certain he would receive this but feared late congressional action might complicate the commonwealth's 1937-39 budget.

The governor, however, has other "must" business to take up in Washington, in particular, an emphatic protest against further retrenchment of WPA. The general assembly late last night passed a resolution calling upon the federal government to see to it that Pennsylvania received a "just share" of WPA funds in proportion to the revenue it contributes to the national coffers and its population.

OLD BEFORE HER TIME

Nervous Breakdown Changes Pretty Young Wife Into Pitiable Invalid

Mrs. George King, 2725 Ninth Ave., Beaver Falls, Pa., who has now entirely recovered her health and happiness, tells her astonishing experience in the following letter:

"I was reared in the country," she says, "and until we moved to town I was always a picture of health. We had good, plain food, mostly grown right on our place—not the canned and packaged substitutes some town people have to put up with. They call such things food but it seems to me that all the life giving power of real food is lost from some of them, in the factories and packing houses where they are canned or manufactured. Shortly after we moved to town I was married. I was happy for a little while. But a few years of living here, as the food and climate did not agree with me, weakness followed. I had terrible headaches, followed by sleepless nights, when I would toss and toss in pain. I grew thinner and weaker each day. I would break out in sudden perspiration, without any reason at all. My hands trembled so bad I spilled my food when I tried to eat."

"Naturally my married life was a failure. I could not give my husband the love he craved and deserved. Black doubts and fears took hold of my mind. I became suspicious of every one. I distrusted even my own husband and falsely imagined he was unfaithful. It was he who saved me when everything was at its worst. One night he brought home a bottle of World's Tonic—the new remedy compounded from roots and herbs grown in their natural state and gathered from different parts of the world. I continued taking it and at the end of a few weeks I was well again like I had been in the country. Our married life is now happier than ever dreamed it could be. I owe it all to World's Tonic."

World's Tonic is on sale at Eckerd's, Paisley's and other modern drug stores.

For Double-Quick Cough Relief, Mix This at Home

Better Than Ready-Made Medicines. Easily Mixed.

Here's an old home remedy your mother used, but for real results, it's still the best thing ever known for coughs that start from colds. Try it once, and you'll swear by it.

It's no trouble at all. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed—a child could do it.

Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of actually better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for four times the money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time.

And there is positively nothing like it for quick action. You can feel it take hold instantly. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the inflamed membranes, and helps clear the air passages. No cough remedy, at any price, could be more effective.

Pinex is a concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Board Of Chest At Henry Home

Organization Matters Discussed, Home Work Reviewed In Night Meeting

Forty-two children are now at the Margaret L. Henry Children's home on Friendship street, but as high as 65 children have been kept there at times, the Community Chest board of directors was told last night when it met at the Henry home as the guests of Miss Margaret L. Henry, the matron, and the home's directors.

The meeting was the second "on the scene" session the Community Chest leaders have conducted this year. In January the board met at the New Castle hospital and on March 8 the directors will be guests of the Girl Scouts at their new office at 17 1/2 South Mercer street.

"These rounds of meetings at the different institutions are mighty helpful and are giving the directors a deeper insight into the workings of the agencies that make up the Chest," President W. Keith McAfee declared after last night's Henry home conference.

With President McAfee in the chair, the board took up its current business and discussed at length changes in its by-laws. Final approval of the new by-laws was deferred until March.

When its business discussion closed, the board informally interviewed Miss Henry and her board on matters relative to the home's operation and financing. Various phases of the institution's problems were recited.

After the interview period the directors toured the home.

Report Aged Man Victim Of Holdup

State Police Seek Assailant Of George Henderson Of Savannah Road

State police are seeking the assailant of George Henderson, age 78, of the Savannah road who was assaulted and robbed of his Old Age pension check, amounting to $27.00 and cash, totaling $35.00, at 2:30 p. m. yesterday in a "cut" along the B. & O. railroad in the vicinity of Clifton Flats. State Policeman Ray Showers investigated the robbery and is seeking the highwayman.

According to Henderson, who is quite feeble, he had been to the city and secured his pension check. However, it was not yet endorsed. He was walking along the B. & O. tracks where there is a "cut" through an embankment, a lonely place, when he was seized from behind.

A heavy set man with a handkerchief over his face, shoved Henderson to the ground, rifled his pockets of the check and cash, but before fleeing threatened: "If you tell anyone about this I'll kill you!"

Scouts Prize Appearance

Good appearance is an important tradition of the Boy Scouts, and a scout in uniform, if it is neat and clean with the insignia and badges in place, always commands respect. The general public knows he is a scout and they do not hesitate to approach him for any service they might desire. The uniform is respected and it is expected that every boy wearing one will always conduct himself like a true scout.

To illustrate just what a uniform means to others: In Brooklyn, a scout was in the habit of passing a certain corner where invariably he saw a group of corner loungers, young men with nothing to do and no desire to do anything worthwhile. The scout always wore his uniform. One night the group stopped him and asked him if he would take care of some money for them over-night and return it to them in the morning. He asked them why they trusted him and the reply was: "You are a scout, we can tell by your uniform. This money has been collected among us to purchase a gift, but we don't trust one another. We know you are honest and fair and you wouldn't be a scout, and we know of you take the money now, you will give it back to us tomorrow."

Flood Caused Heavy Damage At Grove City

(Special To The News)
GROVE CITY, Feb. 9.—Engineers for the Schenck Company, of Erie, contractors building the $80,000 sewage disposal plant here, expect to complete their survey of damages caused by the plant by the recent flood and submit a full report to the Borough Council tonight. The report was expected at the regular council meeting Friday, but it could not be completed.

Wolf Creek spread over the entire area at the plant, which is 500 feet from the banks; raised one end of the plant 19 inches, and damaged underground tanks and pipes. When the waters receded, the plant was left six inches higher at one end, and workmen have been trying for two weeks to estimate the damage, expected to be many thousands of dollars. The plant has been under construction for ten months and was to have been ready for service March 1st.

Mercer County Fund Over $12,000

MERCER, Feb. 9.—Contributions in Mercer county to the flood relief fund this morning had reached $12,234.93 breaking all previous records. This sum is approximately $200 more than was contributed to Pittsburgh flood victims last year and is in excess of the quota set for the county by more than $4,000. How ever there will be no let-up in the drive for funds and all communities are still carrying on.

Tennessee Floods Delay Car Bearing Marble For Steps

Flood conditions in the Knoxville Tenn. district have delayed the railroad shipment of marble which is enroute to New Castle for use in the post office lobby steps. Postmaster Richard A. Steen had been notified today.

E. C. Bertolini, head of The Bertolini Brothers Co., the Youngstown firm awarded the contract for the work, told Steen in a letter that the car carrying the Georgia marble is stranded in the flood zone. He expects its release soon.

Marble steps are to be placed in the stairways at both entrances of the post office. The old trends began to crack up several months ago.

TO HELP YOUR COLD

Do these things NOW!

IF COLD IS IN YOUR HEAD—

Try the famous "2-drop treatment" of Penetro Nose Drops. Just 2 drops in each nostril and you feel relief. Quickly, the ephedrine that Penetro Nose Drops contain, together with other perfectly balanced medication, spreads throughout the nasal passages to soothe the inflamed area and to reduce the redness and swelling of the mucous membranes. Use Penetro Drops for both children and grown-ups. Keep a bottle at home and at the office. Remember, for head colds be sure to ask your druggist for Penetro Nose Drops, 25c, 50c, $1 bottles.

IF COLD IS IN YOUR CHEST—

Do this tonight: Before you go to bed rub Penetro on your chest and throat, then apply hot cloth. Relief quickly follows because Penetro is stronger; contains 113% to 227% more medication than any other nationally sold cold salve. And because Penetro has a base of mutton suet, it conserves and concentrates body heat to enable this stronger medication to help nature break up congestion. The aromatic vapors of Penetro also help to relieve stuffiness and soothe the inflamed area.

Remember: for chest colds ask your druggist for stainless, snow-white Penetro. New size Penetro, 35c, contains twice as much as the 25c size. Larger sizes, 60c and $1.00.

PENETRO and PENETRO NOSE DROPS are products of Plough, Inc., makers of St. Joseph Aspirin.

JUNIOR CHAMBER APPROVES TWO NEW OBJECTIVES

'Boost New Castle' Drive, Hobby Show Chosen As Immediate Goals

Adoption of two immediate objectives and the appointment of three standing committees which will guide the organization's activities during the first half of 1937 marked the regular bi-monthly meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at The Castleton last night.

With fresh vigor the membership unanimously approved the immediate inauguration of a new "Boost New Castle" campaign and outlined tentative plans for it.

A "Hobby Show," a public display somewhat new to the district, was also adopted as an objective and early April was chosen as the time for it. Arthur Lowman and Presley N. Jones were appointed co-chairmen for it.

The three permanent committees, a public relations, an entertainment and house and a membership and finance committee, announced by President W. Herbert Smith, who presided, included:

Public relations—John Brinton, chairman; A. Bruce Ewing, Carmi G. Preston and C. C. Headland.

Entertainment and house—Loy H. Patterson, chairman; Earl C. Ruby, Charles M. Adams and Howard Gilmore.

Membership and finance—Nelson Weygant, chairman; Dean M. Staley, Arthur Alexander and Walter Chervansky.

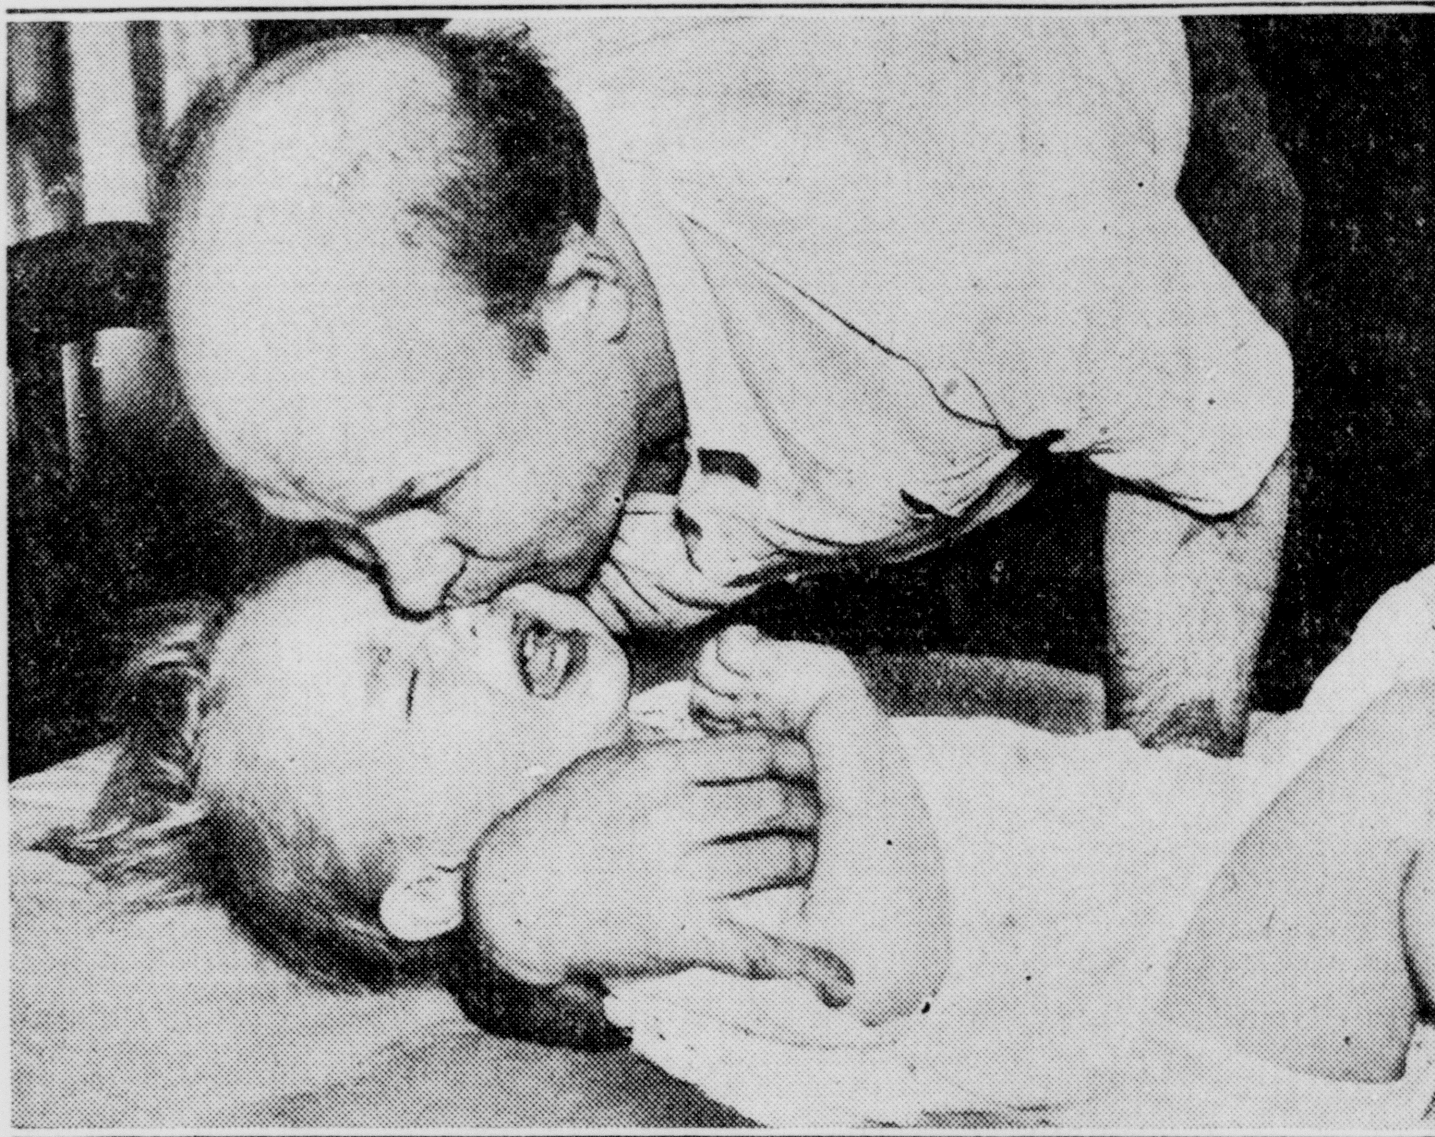

The organization last night also pledged its support to a new Traffic Safety school which Pennsylvania State College will soon open and Mayor Charles E. McGrath will be urged to have a New Castle representative present.

A dinner will mark the February 22 meeting of the junior chamber and Mayor McGrath is being invited to discuss a phase of the crime subject and to have a fingerprint representative in attendance.

President Smith met with members of the board just prior to the membership meeting.

Father's Breath Saves Life of Baby

Rubin Greaves, 38, New York City apartment house superintendent, is seen in this picture thankfully kissing his 18-months-old son, Reginald, a short time after he had saved the infant's life. Roused by the baby's cries in the early morning, Rubin found the child's face distorted with agony and turning blue. The child had stopped breathing when Greaves, placing his hand over his son's mouth, breathed into his nose and dislodged the obstruction that had clogged the baby's throat. His prompt action saved his son's life. (Central Press)

Texas Chivalry Comes To Front Over Nakedness

Refuse To Allow Statute Of Nudes To Be Placed In Girl's School At Dallas

(International News Service) DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 9.—Virtue and Texas chivalry today had triumphed over art—and residents of this state today were permitted to view, in the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts a model of a "typical" Texas family—now no longer nude, but trimly covered with some clothing.

This is settled the storm which was climaxed by the thunderclap of Lieut.-Gov. Walter Woodruff's disapproval: "That's no sort of statue to put in a girl's school."

But if you know the right people, you might go behind the scenes and see the original, shocking tableau which was planned for the Texas State College for Women by the sculptor, William Zorach.

There that original "typical Texas family" stands, a father, a mother and two sons—and all of them naked.

But the common people are kept unsullied, by letting the common people see only the statue out in front, the figures clothed.

Lascal Club Has Successful Event

Featuring the first social event sponsored by the Lascal club, Sunday evening, in Tifereth Israel synagogue, South Jefferson street, was an entertaining program.

Harvey Lewis was in charge of the presentation which included a selection by the Lascal club orchestra, a brief address by Harvey Lewis, who explained the meaning of the letters Lascal, recitations, tap dance by Ruth Markley, and remarks by President Sam Safer. Violin solo by Harry Moresky was another high light. "Eli Eli," played by Harry Moresky, appealed to the gathering. Door prize was awarded to Mrs. Cobb.

The Lascal club is composed of Jewish boys in high school. The proceeds of the carnival will go to the Jewish National Fund, which is working for the building of Palestine.

(International News Service) NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 9.—Ellis H. Parker, Mount Holly detective, and his son, Ellis H. Parker, Jr., pleaded not guilty when arraigned today on an indictment charging them with conspiracy to kidnap under the so-called Lindbergh law.

Judge William Clark set their trial for April 19. It is alleged that they kidnaped Paul H. Wendel, who was brought from New York to New Jersey during the final days of the Bruno Hauptmann case.

Robert Taylor Will Take Grandfather Off Relief Rolls

(International News Service) HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 9.—Robert Taylor has made arrangements to care for Jacob A. Brugh, his 84-year-old grandfather, who should not now be on the old age pension rolls at Holmesville, Neb., the handsome film actor asserted today.

Taylor's statement was in reply to County Assistance Director T. E. Saunders, of Beatrice, Neb., that Brugh was still on the pension rolls, despite word from Taylor last week that the aged man's needs would be attended to forthwith.

"As soon as I heard of the situation," said Taylor, "I telephoned Saunders that I would arrange at once to have my grandfather cared for. Last week, through an old friend, I made arrangements for complete care of my grandfather."

Lazzeri Picks Gehringer As Best Player

Of Course Lazzeri Is Some Shakes Himself Around Second Base Bag

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—With a contract said to call for $14,000 safely tucked in his pocket, Tony Lazzeri, the "brains" of the Yankees, today predicted the Yanks, Tigers and Indians would run one-two-three and paid tribute to Charley Gehringer of the Tigers as the greatest player he had ever seen.

Tony carefully weighed the merits of Cobb, Ruth, Speaker, Hornsby, Collins, Gehrig and other greats of the diamond, and then remarked:

Likes Gehringer.
"I've seen a lot of wonderful players but for all-around ability, I'll pick Gehringer. If there is a perfect ball player, he's it. He can do everything. He's the best hitter in the league. He can bunt, drag one, hit to any field or slam one a country mile.

"He's fast and sure in the field and fast on the bases. He can go to either side for a grounder, or back for a pop fly and he's a honey as a pivot on a double play.

"He plays the hitters perfectly, he's got an ideal disposition, he's a team player, he's got courage and brains. I don't know if he can cook, but he certainly can do about everything else."

Tony can't see the Indians as serious pennant contenders, even with Bob Feller on the mound. "The kid's still got to prove himself," was his summation on Feller. "He has a hitch in his throw at the elbow but, at that, he's got plenty of swift. But you simply can't get away from the Tigers. They're the team to beat, especially with Cochrane and Greenburg back on the job."

Tony Gets Praise.
Tony thinks the White Sox and Senators will fight it out for fourth place with the Red Sox, Athletics and Browns scrambling for what's left.

Joe McCarthy, manager of the Yanks, nodded silent confirmation to all Tony said, and as Tony walked off, Joe remarked: "Gehringer is all Tony said he was, but the greatest fellow I've ever seen on a ground ball is Tony himself, and don't forget I've seen them all—Hornsby, Collins, LaJoie and Wagner. If you can't have a Gehringer on your team, you can't go far wrong with a Lazzeri."

Union Is Ready For East Brook

Union Hopes To Repeat Victory Over East Brook High Tonight

Union High school basketball team will have East Brook High as opponents tonight at the Union High court. The girls of the two schools will play the preliminary game at 7:30 o'clock.

Coach Davy Boyd will start his regular lineup of Davies and Ostrowsky at the forwards, Stevenson at center and Wotowitz and Morrison or Guinbaugh at the guards with Pattison on deck and will see action.

Union has a five-five average at the moment in Section 21 and hope to get above the 500 mark tonight. East Brook will want revenge for the drubbing handed to them at their own court by Union earlier in the year.

WIN COUNTY TITLE
Tony C. Richards was president, Dan Ross manager and D. Bullano captain of the I. A. A. in 1916. The New Castle Independents came on the scene and a "war" of words ensued. Paul DeCarbo was the business manager of the Independents. However, neither team met. The Italian A. A. won a series from the Boro A. C. for the county title. The first game was on the steel mill ground, second at South New Castle borough and third on Elders field in Croton. The score of the last game was 10 to 4, with the I. A. A. team as follows: J. Marcella, ss; Littlewood, 3b; D. Marcella, 2b; L. Bullano, cf; Cassella, 1b; S. Hutnic, rf; S. Ross, lb; E. Riley, c; V. Ciabella, p. Boro A. C.: McLaure, cf; Smiley, 2b; J. Kelly, 3b; Bludorn, rf; Jones, c; Phillips, ss; N. Kelly, lf; Withers, 1b; B. Kelly and Kierker, p. The prayers and fans were saddened by the death of Dave Bullano at the end of the season. He had been a regular for 14 years.

Epworth Trims Christians In League Battle

Score Is 25 To 21, Third U. P. Loses To St. Pauls, First Baptists Win

Epworth M. E. trimmed the First Christians in the New Castle church basketball league feature game last night 25 to 21, with Dart, Wainio, and Grommes doing the bulk of the scoring.

For the Christians the work of Patton and Morrison was the best. The Christians led at the half 10 to 7. It was the second league defeat of the year for the Christians.

In the second game the St. Paul's Lutherans team topped the Third U. P. in a close shave 21 to 20 with Schaas and Lang the featured players for the St. Paul's and with Hahn and Kimmel the best by far for the Third U. P. quintet.

The First Baptist team paced by Riley with 12 points and Marty with eight points walloped the Tifereth Israel team 35 to 18. Barron and Plant were the best for the losers.

Georgetown U. basketball team last night at Washington defeated West Virginia U. 51 to 23. Georgetown was brilliant beneath the basket with both first and second teams while its defense held against West Virginia's shooting, mostly and ineffectually to the middle of the floor.

John Henry Lewis, the lightweight champion, successfully stepped from his division to capture a 15-round award from Al Ettore, heavyweight, at Philadelphia last night. Johnny Lucas beat Holman Williams in a junior welterweight bout which went eight rounds. At New York, Enrico Venturi, Italian heavyweight champion, decisioned Jimmy McLeod, Washington, in an eight-round fight.

Stu Martin, second baseman with the St. Louis Cardinals, has left a Buffalo, N. Y., hospital, following an appendix operation. He said he intends to rest at his Severn, N. C., home. He has orders to report to St. Louis for an examination. The Cards will leave for Daytona Beach next week. It isn't probable Martin will accompany them south.

Arthur Cranfield, 19, Syracuse, beat Herbert Courtney, former New York state titleholder, 125-87, at New York in the opening round of the national amateur pocket billiards championship. The game lasted 22 innings with Cranfield making the high run of 20 against 18.

Giants Will Have Fight This Year To Win Pennant

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—With all official business duly transacted preparatory to the 1937 season and the takeoff for training camps scheduled within two weeks, baseball men dispersed today leaving behind an off-the-record consensus hint on probable outcome of next season's pennant races.

Gathered here for the National league meeting held Friday and the baseball writers' annual banquet Sunday night, the gentlemen closest to the game seem to be agreed that the Yankees figure again to spread-eagle the American league, while in the National two or three teams may spreadeagle the Giants.

This mid-winter prognosticating is based on the assumption that Col. Jake Ruppert of the Yankees will manage to muster a nine in time for spring training and that outstanding National league stars will remain with the clubs for which they toiled last season.

The Yankees had a sufficiency of everything last season to win by nearly 20 games en route to the world championship, and nobody can find any very good reason for predicting a slump by them, unless the situation gets real bad and the colonel is forced to start the season with a neighborhood pick-up team. Up to now he has signed only a few regulars.

Watch Indians.
Cleveland and Detroit figure to make the race for second place, with nearly any of the rest possibilities for the first division.

The National league race looks as though it will be tight as an old collar. In 1936 the Giants barely wobbled in by five games with the assistance of some miracles, including Pitcher Carl Hubbell, and they won't get it. St. Louis and Chicago, which finished in a tie for second, are preparing to see to that.

However, the buzzers around the lobby relate, if either of a couple of long-discussed transactions should develop in the immediate future the whole situation might easily be changed.

They mean Pitcher Van Mungo of Brooklyn may still wind up with the Giants or Cubs and Pitcher Dizzy Dean may land in Chicago or Pittsburgh.

Geneva To Meet Titans Tonight

Great Game Scheduled For New Wilmington Floor At 8:15 O'Clock

GENEVA BOASTS
NOTABLE RECORD

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 9.—Coach George Roark's Western district Titans meet their strongest district opposition of the year when they face the Geneva Covenanters Tuesday night, February 9, at 8:15 on the New Wilmington floor.

The Titans rose to their highest peak of the season Saturday night, when they set the Bethany Bisons back 46-11 in a game which featured the play of Roarkmen substitutes as well as regulars. Whether the Titans can maintain their excellent play against Geneva remains to be seen. Last year the Titans set the Geneva courtmen back with two solid defeats.

Geneva has been burning the district courts up, with only one title defeat, an early-season tilt against Youngstown college. Successful on their eastern invasion, when they dropped the Long Islanders after the easterners had hung up two solid years of wins, the Covenanters will be a difficult group to handle.

Geneva will bring to New Wilmington the most powerfully offensive team of the present season, with Pennebaker and Milanovich at forwards, Moyer at center and Hurley at guard. The Titans' strong offensive threats are Backus at center to take the tip-off, Grubb, Demo and Gilliland to score points and Krivosh and Grubb on defense. Geneva's largest score of the year was 67-35 against Bethany on the West Virginia court, where the Titans lost a 44-34 decision.

Sports Review Just At Glance

(International News Service)
It was reported in New York that a compromise may be worked out in the heavyweight situation providing for a Max Schmeling-James J. Braddock fight at Comiskey park, Chicago, in June, with the winner to meet Joe Louis at Chicago's Soldiers field in September.

Tony Lazzeri signed new contract with New York Yankees, understood for salary of $14,000.

Light heavyweight champion John Henry Lewis won 15-round decision over Al Ettore at Philadelphia. Freddy Steele, middleweight champion, was installed as two to one favorite to defeat Babe Risko at Madison Square Garden on Feb. 19. Enrico Venturi chalked up 13th straight American victory in defeating Jimmy McLeod of Tacoma in his campaign for world's lightweight championship.

Lewis Brooks, Philadelphia, with a 70, established a new American amateur high-run billiards record during national tournament.

Braddock-Louis To Sign Papers For Big Fight

Will Affix Signatures To Contract In Chicago On Saturday Is Belief

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—Joe Louis began training here today, but not for his battle with champion Jim Braddock which 'tis said will be held at Comiskey park here June 22.

While Louis punched his sparring mates in preparation for a 10 round battle with Natie Brown at Kansas City, February 17, the ballyhoo for the Louis-Braddock affair blared forth in high.

Braddock Stubborn
Official announcement of the date and site of the title bout will be announced Saturday, it was learned, and at that time Louis and Braddock will sign the articles of war. This ceremony was originally scheduled for yesterday but was postponed due to Braddock's stubbornness over the site, the champion contending he was promised the bout will be staged at Soldier's field. These difficulties will be ironed out at a meeting Thursday between Sheldon Clark, president of the Sporting Club of Illinois, under whose auspices the contest will be presented, Joe Foley, matchmaker and publicity director of the club, Chairman Joe Trainer of the Illinois Boxing Commission, and other principals.

Triner yesterday surmounted a minor obstacle by approving the license applications of Braddock and his manager, Joe Gould. The signing ceremony is for the purpose of ballyhoo, as all concerned announced last week the match has been made. Braddock to receive 50 per cent of the gate and Louis 17 1/2 per cent, the site to be Comiskey park, and the date to be June 22.

Two games will be played tonight in section 21, with one game having a distinct bearing on the race for first place, this being the New Wilmington at Mt. Jackson engagement.

Both New Wilmington and Mt. Jackson have an outside chance to overtake the league leading Bessemer, and therefore the game will be no doubt be very very interesting. From here we will give the Mt. Jackson lads the nod.

The other sectional battle will take the East Brookers to the Union high court. Coach Davey Boyd and his boys hope to fatten the batting average tonight.

Lewis Defeats Al Ettore In "Philly" Ring

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 9.—John Henry Lewis, world's light heavyweight champion, was well content today with his victory over Al Ettore, Philadelphia heavyweight, in a 15-round "grudge fight" here. In their previous match in the same hall Ettore was awarded a 10-round decision, which was later changed to a draw by the Pennsylvania Boxing Commission.

Lewis was outwitted last night by more than 10 pounds. He entered at 181 and Ettore at 192 1/2. The bout was exciting during the early rounds, but dwindled in interest toward the finish, with each man having an eye closed, and Lewis bleeding profusely from his right eye.

The Arizona Negro dropped Ettore twice for counts of nine in the third round and at the end of that period the Philadelphia was almost out on his feet. Ettore made a good comeback in the fourth, however, when he pounded the champion severely about the body.

Lewis' title was not at stake.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The two-day recovery in the stock market was checked today. Profit-taking attracted by a generally higher opening turning the list into an irregular affair.

Large blocks of stock with the ticker late again ruled at the opening of the market. Individual transactions ran to 9,000 shares in Armour, with numerous blocks of 5,000 and more.

Rubbers were prime favorites. Goodyear opened at 39 1/2 on 5,000 shares, then spurted above 40 for a gain of nearly 2 points.

Steels and motors showed no definite trend, plus and minus signs being equally divided in these sections. Chrysler ran up well over a point in yesterday's 4-point spurt.

Standard of Jersey and of Indiana were at new high levels. Utilities and coppers were sluggish. Rails and aviation were mixed.

Bonds displayed an irregular price trend. Grains and cotton turned downward.

Seldom, if ever, was the world so stirred as in 1934 when the news of gold in California spread abroad.

"Go for California!" was borne on every breeze, in almost every language, enticing a million men from their homes in the four corners of the earth. In the streets of our seaport towns men walked about in red woolen shirts, slouch hats and cowhide boots, carrying pistols or dirks, looking the Wild West but really peaceful citizens just out of factory, farm or store and waiting for a ship to California.

Early American settlers considered the acorn a symbol of hospitality. It often appeared in carving on Colonial houses and gates.

Rotarians Watch Scouts In Action

Boy Scout Week Tribute Paid As Club Joins Lads For Evening

MEETING OCCURS AT BEN FRANKLIN

Scoutmaster Richard D. Smith of Rotary Boy Scout Troop 1 and his band of boys played host to the Rotary club members at a special Boy Scout Week program last night in Ben Franklin junior high school.

Almost all of the Rotarians turned out for the festive dinner which was served in the school's cafeteria and for the scouts' gymnasium exhibitions which followed.

The present Rotary troop is not much more than one year old, but the Rotarians last night, from the spectators' seats in the school gym, watched the lads perform with dispatch the many things they have learned from the leaders throughout the year.

Cole Directs Gym Show Scoutmaster Smith welcomed the club members and thanked them heartily for their assistance in the past and then presented the night's master of ceremonies, Assistant Scoutmaster Robert Cole.

The gym show was full of ginger and snap—especially the two lively boxing matches the boys offered as the grand finale of the program.

The dinner in the cafeteria had been served under the direction of Mrs. Rachel P. Taylor, supervisor of cafeterias for the local school district. School girls served it.

Appropriate as centerpieces were the clever miniature displays of the eight different types of firebuilding, artistic pieces of work turned out by the Rotary scouts in their regular art class at Franklin school.

The Boy Scouts attended the dinner as the club's guests and occupied a special table with their leaders.

President Ray S. Tannehill spoke briefly at the close of the dinner, extending the club's best wishes to the boys and promises "even more cooperation during the coming year."

Tannehill presented Alec Samuels, chairman of the club's boys' work committee and the chairman of the evening's program, who also paid tribute to the boys. Samuels then asked the members to adjourn to the gym for the demonstrations.

Down in the gym, Scoutmaster Smith was introduced and then the enlightening review of scout work started. Just before that, Donald Thompson, another assistant scoutmaster of the troop, was introduced.

Boys who participated in the program under Mr. Cole's direction included Bob Carroll, chief patrol leader; Frank Terreri, Jim Grove and Bob Gregg, patrol leaders, and Carl Williams, Harry Kennedy, Donald Weir, Tony Sacco, George Keeling, James Gregg, Robert Gregg, Rocco Torsello, Amundo Monaco, Rudolf Marozzi, George Phyllian and Bill Hanna.

Members with Mr. Samuels on the boys' work committee are Charles T. Metzler and Hartzell Huston.

Rotary's special scout recognition was on of several that have been planned by service clubs here this week.

Preaching Mission Plans Being Mapped By Local Clergymen

A city-wide exchange of pulpits on Sunday, March 14, will open a week's preaching mission in New Castle, according to plans adopted at Monday's meeting of the New Castle Ministerial Association in the First Presbyterian church.

Dr. C. B. Wingerd, of the preaching mission committee, recommended plans which were unanimously adopted by the body. Services are to be conducted each night of March 14 week with the pastors or guest preachers in charge. The week will be preceded by home visitations and followed by community meetings on the night of Wednesday, March 24.

Rabbi Norman Diamond made announcements of the Brotherhood Day meeting of next Sunday at the high school auditorium, the program for which has been published before.

The association adopted resolutions against pari-mutual betting which will be sent to Harrisburg.

Dr. M. M. Pearce, of Geneva College, was introduced at this juncture and gave a most interesting address on "Looking Back on My Pastorate." He emphasized three things that he would consider most important were he to be in the pulpit again: The art of public speaking, more full enjoyment of "my people with the richness of their personalities" and enlargement of the opportunity for spiritual fellowship.

Guests introduced by Dr. J. J. McIlvaine at the meeting included Rev. Louis A. Galbraith, of Mapleton, Pa., who is visiting in New Castle, Rev. Earl Davis, of Greenville, and Rev. J. N. Croxall, of Jamestown, Pa.

In two weeks the association will meet again with Dr. R. F. Galbreath, president of Westminster College, as speaker.

The Rev. Eric Robson, vicar of St. Andrew's, West Kirby, England, has placed a record of a peal of bells on a phonograph to call his parishioners to worship. He dreamed he heard bells from his church; awoke to find it his radio. But the dream gave him the idea of the record with loud speaker attached. His church tower is not strong enough for real bells.
